OUR MISSION

Offering compassionate, faith-based recovery services to mothers and their children.

OUR PROGRAM PHILOSOPHY

Sojourner House, Inc. views addiction as a family disease and as a disease of mind, body, and spirit.

Reflections from the Executive Director

During this last year, I learned even more than I thought possible about community support, partnerships, and healing. As the COVID-19 pandemic impacted Sojourner House and the entire world, it taught me that neither Sojourner House nor myself are exempt from hardships. No, we would not have survived this pandemic without support from others.

I learned that partnership and collaboration are the keys to success; no one agency or institution has all the answers. Our partnership with the Homeless Children's Education Fund (HCEF) helped us provide educational resources to our children and families during this pandemic. We are grateful to local churches for sending constant in-kind and monetary donations—resources that met critical needs for our families. We express gratitude to our community funders and foundation partners such as the Parent Child Guidance Foundation, Community Care Behavioral Health Organization, Beacon Health Options, and Allegheny County Department of Human Services. These and more provided essential COVID-19 updates and program resources.

Our funders, including the foundation community, helped us to provide a haven for our staff and families impacted by the pandemic. In addition to COVID-19, we continued our social justice efforts with the assistance of Allegheny County Health Choices Inc. and other community partners. We promoted Sankofa—the concept of looking back at the past to learn how to move forward and hold space for each other during life's challenging moments.

And there were so many beautiful moments this past year to show the world that recovery is possible. Thank you to our partners for sharing inspiration and hope:

- Our Annual Victorian Tea highlighted our partnership with Beverly's Birthdays and honored Meg Yunn.
- The Recovery Month virtual panel discussion was presented in collaboration with City of Pittsburgh Police, Familylinks, Inc., Message Carriers, Neighborhood Resilience Project, and POWER.

Each of us at this organization is grateful to one another—to every one of our community partners, board members, volunteers, staff, and donors—for helping us to survive this unprecedented time marked by uncertainty, loss, and illness for so many.

Most of all, please give a standing ovation to the Sojourner House and Sojourner House MOMS Direct Care and Clinical Staff, who worked around the clock during this crisis and continue to care for and sustain safety for our families.

In observance of our 30th Anniversary in 2021, we focused on recognizing and continuing the work. As we move forward, I anticipate continuing to grow solid partnerships—together, we make recovery and healing possible for all families.

With hope and gratitude,

Building Bridges

Unity through Collaboration

In our experience, the support of people who believe in you is a vital part of any recovery journey. Support is also critical to our organization. As Sojourner House continued to carry out its mission through the pandemic, the connection, collaboration, and unity of new and old friends were essential parts of our work and success.

Unity through ENGAGEMENT

In honor of Sojourner House's 30th anniversary, Sojourner House hosted a panel discussing recovery from substance use disorder. Some of our partners in the recovery community gathered to talk about what recovery looks like today and how the community can help shape its future.

Rosa Davis, Executive Director of POWER (PA Organization for Women in Early Recovery), served as moderator with Familylinks streaming the event online. Panelists from Familylinks Pittsburgh, Neighborhood Resilience Project, City of Pittsburgh Police, and Message Carriers of Pennsylvania joined our Executive Director, De'netta Benjamin-Miller for this important community discussion.

The discussion spanned vital aspects of recovery, including the importance of breaking stigmas, community education, trauma-informed treatment, and the impact of sharing stories of success.

Unity through CELEBRATION

A new way to gather over tea was realized when our 16th Victorian Tea was presented virtually in August 2020. Guests took part in our first completely online event, sharing selfies of their fascinators and at-home teas during this unstoppable annual celebration of our mission. The event honored the Chatham University Words Without Walls creative partnership, where weekly workshops engage and empower women through creative writing, presenting skills, and discussion. The 16th Pearl of Hope Award was presented to Sarah Shotland, program director of Words Without Walls. The event can be viewed on the Sojourner House YouTube channel.

Along with our 30th anniversary, we celebrated 10 years of partnership with Beverly's Birthdays and Meg Yunns, Executive Director and honorary chair of our 17th Victorian Tea in August 2021. This joyful organization is dedicated to making sure that every child feels special and is able to celebrate birthdays and milestones. Sojourner House donated 10% of event proceeds to Beverly's Birthdays, recognizing our first event partnership.

Unity through GROWTH

Since 2008, Sojourner House has partnered with the Homeless Children's Education Fund (HCEF). Together, we provide after-school programming and supplies to children served by Sojourner House. In 2022, we are collaborating to build an outdoor structure and enhanced learning and play spaces at MOMS Green. Kids participating in HCEF's afterschool, cultural, STEM, and summer programs will benefit from this program. A sensory garden, new interactive play features, and a learning shed for educational tools are among improvements. MOMS Green is also an important gathering space for families, friends, and the MOMS community.

Both of our organizations have asked supporters to enhance this outdoor space. HCEF's mini-grant of $15,000 kicked off our collaborative fundraising and planning with additional support via Pittsburgh Rotary's District Grant Service Project foundation, volunteers, and others. Details on the generosity transforming MOMS Green will be posted on our website and shared on digital channels during 2022.

Stories of Resilience & Endurance

The Sojourner House community is the bedrock of our work and our success. Throughout our 30 years, we have solved problems and celebrated victories through collaborations while maintaining a strong focus on our mission. The challenges of the COVID-19 pandemic were unexpected and unique. We are very grateful that in a time of uncertainty and fear, our staff, clients, and donors carried on and grew in strength. While the way we worked changed, our mission stayed the same.

Stories of Resilience ADDRESSING FINANCIAL LITERACY

Some clients faced a challenge with the influx of funds received from pandemic stimulus checks. While in active recovery, a sudden gift of money may present a temptation. Some clients, in considering how to use this additional money, even asked staff to hold the funds to help them avoid negative choices.

To address this new challenge, our staff found another way to support our clients by jointly creating spending plans. This allowed our clients to manage their stimulus money while supporting themselves and their families.

Stories of Endurance ENSURING SAFETY & SECURITY

The fear of contracting COVID-19 was real for many clients during the past year. While we worked hard to share confirmed knowledge about transmission and care, misinformation was sadly plentiful. Decision making was even more challenging for some of our families who are dual diagnosed, meaning that there are underlying mental health issues as well as drug and alcohol abuse.

While establishing safety protocols, our staff and clients found the necessity of social distancing made some of the hallmarks of our programs — like group meetings — very difficult. Indeed, the new socially acceptable norm of avoiding others created obstacles to the transparency and honesty associated with success in recovery. Fortunately, the awareness and diligence of our staff supported our families through these worst of times.

Stories of Resilience STRONG VOLUNTEER SUPPORT

Throughout the past year, our staff worked to alleviate COVID-related fears, while ensuring the safety of our families. Extra care included more frequent disinfecting of client apartments and shared spaces. And, as always, our volunteers chipped in to ensure we weathered the storm.

Sojourner House and Sojourner House MOMS' Boards provided cleaning supplies, while partners and volunteers donated masks, supplies, and food. And the generosity didn't stop at basic needs. Partners and donors also provided events, gifts, and entertainment — all of which allowed our families to live as normally as possible during these new and often stressful circumstances.

By utilizing Amazon orders and dropping off gifts at front doors, our partners continued to celebrate Christmas with us even at a distance. Donors provided us with portable DVD players for the families.

Murrysville Bible Study group provided themed presents monthly, and also hosted readings to keep spirits up. And, we used the beautiful open spaces in our buildings to have a handful of events safely. VolunTOTS provided an outdoor Mother's Day Event, while Blue Kangaroo provided a pop-up clothing shop for our clients.

In a testament to the community that supports us, our volunteer numbers did not decline in 2021. Even if they couldn't be there in person, our volunteers assisted us from a distance.

Stories of Endurance BUILDING A STRONG FINANCIAL FOUNDATION

Like virtually every family, the Sojourner House family was acutely aware that the pandemic could impact our organization's financial future. Our strong base of individual and corporate donors was tested during this crisis. Because this pandemic affected us all, multiple needs developed and grew in all of our communities. This unprecedented situation challenged us to diversify our revenue streams both immediately and for the future. Our focus fueled research around new funding opportunities and the development of strategies to engage and serve even more people. We emerged renewed in our inspiration to increase both outreach and education for our families and the greater community.

Stories of Success

Jenny

Jenny was an intravenous (IV) drug user who entered our treatment program in 2016. She also had one child. Sojourner House's treatment helped Jenny with Medication-Assisted Therapy (MAT) to address current drug use, as well as any mental health therapies needed or sought.

During intake and assessment Jenny learned that she was pregnant. To accommodate Jenny's growing family, we assisted her with an off-site apartment while making certain she had full support in place.

Jenny was able to work with a specialist who assisted with the services wanted and needed during recovery – including housing, medical care, and child services. Despite her fears of not being in the treatment facility with round-the-clock staffing, Jenny accepted the opportunity of transitional housing and flourished there.

Jenny was next approved for her housing choice voucher. Today she believes that her dreams are becoming reality.

Jenny shared her feelings with staff: "I did it. I found an apartment after four years of being in this program and homeless. Sojourner House has given me the tools to achieve this and I felt comfortable enough to take the next steps by myself. I will forever be grateful to this program. On top of that, they helped me get furniture for my new place and they gave me a head start. Thank you, Sojourner MOMS, for everything you've done. You're my family."

Susie

Susie came to Sojourner House in 2020 with the goal of reunification with her young son. The 26-year-old was abusing alcohol. She was not addressing mental health concerns or engaging in any alcohol treatment programs. When she was active in her addiction, Susie had issues with not following rules and had a few disagreements with the local police.

While Sojourner House assisted Susie with her court hearings, she also received a plethora of support. As our Family Support Specialists provided case management and arranged for life skills and parenting classes, our agency was involved with Susie's reunification with her mother, who resided in another state.

When Susie sought to address her mental health, we helped refer her to an inpatient mental health facility for her diagnosis and treatment. Susie gained insight and clarity through working with a mental health therapist. The process allowed her to address the deep-rooted trauma that led to addiction and contributed to her mental health concerns.

Susie returned to Sojourner House refreshed and renewed. She enthusiastically participated in groups, kept a clean apartment, and regularly visited her son. Following her hard work, the Sojourner House team had the pleasure of writing a letter in support of her reunification with her son.

In January 2022, Susie was granted shared custody of her son. She's now actively engaged in his life. Susie's accomplishments also include earning her driver's license and working as a certified nursing assistant with a stable income.

Sojourner House walks with each participant through their recovery journey. We are extremely grateful for Susie's successes and applaud her amazing progress.

Sandra

Sandra arrived at Sojourner House with her two daughters in 2015.

The family had already been through many challenges. Sandra's active substance abuse affected not only her, but her children as well. They sadly witnessed the effects of their mother's addiction.

Sandra's recovery journey was not a straight line. There were many stops and starts. She made progress one day and then experienced a stumbling block the next. But it was ultimately her honesty about her addiction that fueled her success. Sandra says she told the Sojourner staff: "I messed up. I need help. Tell me what to do and I'll do it."

To help Sandra, Sojourner House's staff held a team meeting with her; all present in that meeting were determined to craft her successful road to recovery together. Sandra shared that her oldest daughter had moved out and was pregnant. The idea of being a grandmother was very exciting to Sandra. So her plan addressed two goals: reaching sobriety and being with her grandchild.

After three months in treatment, Sandra was a new woman. She was clean and had also secured Section 8 housing. But while she had her keys and lease in hand, Sandra didn't have help for her move. So Sojourner House rented a truck and the staff helped her to pack and hit the road. Now Sandra lives in her new apartment, is working, and has a great relationship with her oldest daughter and her new grandchild.

From the Sojourner House Board President

Our 30-year journey as an organization spanned both times of challenge and of change. Perhaps nothing tested the dedication of our board, staff, and volunteers more than the years we just experienced.

The work we do to support those in recovery and their children is demanding. It is also very rewarding. As president of the Sojourner House Board, I am continually inspired by the professionals who serve in so many ways. From the donors who help fund our services to the volunteers who share their talents and gifts, to our supporters who fuel our ongoing operations. I, personally, am so very grateful for each of you, as I've observed the big difference even a seemingly small gesture or donation can make.

While we celebrate our three decades of service, we continue to look ahead and think about the mission and families we serve. The COVID-19 pandemic changed many ways we fulfill our mission. That's why Sojourner House, Inc — comprising both of our operational branches — is in the process of envisioning new possibilities for our constituents and working to set goals that will make those possibilities a reality.

The past months of working intently have inspired us to build more relationships throughout the community. Now we are empowered to step out to connect, engage, and learn.

We hope to see you soon as we reach out to share our resources, open our doors, and invite each of you to listen to the stories of our history and play a part in our future. The next 30 years are calling, and Sojourner House is poised for the journey!

Warmly,

Christie Smith
President, Board of Directors
Sojourner House

Christie Smith, a real estate project manager, has served in numerous board roles with Sojourner House MOMS and Sojourner House over the past decade. Her leadership was integral in our MOMS property development, as is her support and initiative for the Victorian Tea. She has served in her current leadership position throughout the entire pandemic, a time when operations have required a special level of commitment from all of our Board members. We are grateful for her extended service as Sojourner Board President through June 2022 and as she moves to continue on the MOMS Board in July.
